A pirate poem by Ryan

When the shore was hiding and the sea was rising suddenly pirates came out with a map with a pot
at the back. At sea they swallowed food like a pig and a pig in the morning with the pirate
came out the "Bollard"
map and ended up in a trap and they died without a map. As they found a bolt
they kept it
knocked with the just sunk on the boat

The Hungry Sea Pirates by Oscar

The Hungry Sea Pirates

Once upon a time there were 3 pirates called Pirate Chief, Ben Buckle and Pips-peg-leg. They were far out to sea on their ship and they were very hungry. Pips-peg-leg went fishing on the side of the ship he wanted to catch a fish but he had caught a shark! The shark began to stare Pips-leg in each corner.

And then he ate Pips-peg-leg!
He is going to drown he can swim without legs! Shouted Pirate Chief, who is going to cook for us now?

Ben Buckle looked through his telescope and found an island nearby. "Land ahoy!" he shouted. "My dear, we've got to look for a new chest".

They sailed to the island and found a big tree of gold coins hidden up high in the trees. They shook the tree as hard as they could and down came the treasure. "Pick those coins up and take them onto the ship quickly!" Pirate Chief shouted.

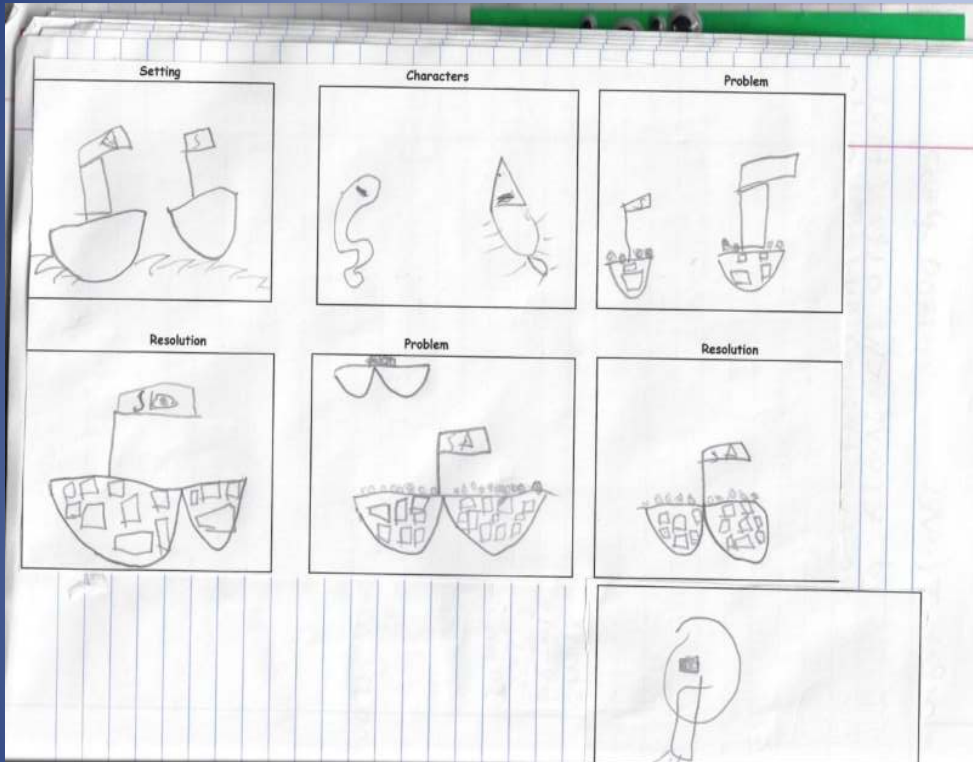

One day somewhere there was a massive ship full of sea monkeys and they jumped onto the beach. "What are you doing with our treasure?" they screamed.

Pirate Chief and Ben Buckle chucked as many coins as they could onto their ship and escaped. They had lots of gold coins but no tree or a new chest!

"Oh no, no more biscuits for me again!" cried Pirate Chief.

The End

Kian's plan and pirate story

The Crocodile pirates and Snake pirates had set sail, on a main treasure hunt in Mid-October. The sea was calm, but the pirates were angry.

They had been quarrelling about which pirates had the best boat. The Crocodile pirate ship was bigger and meaner, but the snakes ship had a swimming pool and trampoline on board.

Captain Roger Crocodile got so cross he ordered a battle, and the battle began by the snakes shooting slime cannon balls and the crocodiles shooting eggs in the cannon.

The battle lasted a while and everyone was in such a mess, then they realised they were being silly so they made up and became friends again just in time as in the distance was sea monkey's. The crocodiles and Snakes decided to stick the boats together.

The sea monkeys started firing bananas at the boat and the crocodile and snake pirates worked together to fight against the sea monkeys. They started shooting at one end each until both the captains said Fire the cannons at the same time into the middle.

Three, Two, One Fire they shouted and happily the sea monkeys got destroyed and were trying to swim to safety.

The snake and crocodile pirates were able to continue their journey in the arisen they saw a palm tree and land, so they aimed for that and when they arrived, they found a massive treasure chest filled with gems, and gold and they laughed happily as they took it on board their ship and shared it out amongst the crew.
